How much will an NPQ course cost?

NPQs are currently provided for free for all teachers and leaders employed in state-funded schools, as well as those employed in state-funded organisations that offer 16 to 19 places in England.

What do people on LLSE courses say?

NPQLT Feedback: "The facilitators have been professional and approachable. I have been really pleased with the quality of expertise on offer."

NPQLBC Feedback: "I am enjoying the research element of the course as I feel I am gaining an insightful understanding into different cultures of behaviour and making reference to highly recommended sources."

NPQLTD Feedback: "The learning scenarios allow me to discuss elements of good practice with my school leadership and to quote exemplars and expectations from the course. I spend time on the self-directed learning materials and take the research and reading from these to school."

NPQSL Feedback: "I think that the resources are really valuable and have really made me reflect on how we initiate change and also re-think strategies that we currently use. I would have found it difficult to know where to start with some of these without this training."

NPQH Feedback: "The F2F session was really interesting, and it was positive to see other people on the course and do the activities together. I also find the webinars to be really focused. I feel we cover lots of different areas in a short, focused timescale which is very useful."

NPQEL Feedback: "I think the programme is excellent and I am getting a lot from it. It is encouraging me to reflect and develop my practice."
